Message From the President

Martin County Bar President - Jeffrey M. Friedman, Esq.

Dear Members:

We hope you enjoyed our March luncheon speaker, Psychologist, Kristie DeBlasio, Ph.D. Dr. DeBlasio provided very helpful information on mental health and strategies on how to cope with mental health issues. We appreciate her work with The Florida Bar's Mental Health and Wellness Center, which confidentially assists attorneys with mental health issues. If you or a colleague is suffering from mental health issues, please call the Florida Lawyers Helpline at 833-351-9355, where you can confidentially speak with a mental health counselor.

This month's luncheon speaker will be Peggy Hewitt with Florida Mutual Insurance Company, who will be speaking about legal malpractice. Ms. Hewitt will be discussing how to understand from where and why legal malpractice claims happen, and how to take proactive steps to reduce the likelihood a claim will be successfully made against you.

April is upon us. Flowers have started blooming, leaves have begun growing on trees and we are starting to see a warm-up after our cold winter. April Fools! This is Florida. We have this all year. There is plenty of historical significance to April. The first battle of the Revolutionary War, at Lexington and Concord, broke out on April 19, 1775. George Washington was inaugurated as the First President of the United States on April 30, 1789. On April 15, 1912, the famous Titanic ship hit an iceberg and sunk on her first and only voyage. After a 1,500-year break, the first Olympics of the modern era took place on April 6, 1896, in Athens.

Thanks for reading our Sidebar. We look forward to seeing everyone at the luncheon.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey M. Friedman
2022-2023 MCBA President

Join us on Friday, April 21, 2023

On Friday, April 21, 2023, the Executive Board of the Martin County Bar Association invites its members and guests to join us for our monthly CLE luncheon meeting at Monarch Golf Club in Palm City. Networking begins at 11:30 a.m. and lunch will be served promptly at noon.

We are excited to welcome Margaret “Peggy” Hewitt of Florida Lawyers Mutual Insurance Company who will discuss Legal Malpractice. Before coming to Florida Lawyers Mutual Insurance Company in May 2020, Ms. Hewitt was a 22+ year partner of Jones, Hurley & Hand, P.A., and was designated an “AV” Peer Review Rated Lawyer for nearly 25 years. Before joining JH&H, Ms. Hewitt’s career included nearly eight years as in-house litigation counsel for the Walt Disney Company, three years as Assistant General Counsel for the Sheriff of Orange County, and seven years as an Assistant State Attorney for the 9th Judicial Circuit. Peggy has spent the majority of her career litigating premises and product liability, employment and labor, and workers’ compensation claims on behalf of her self-insured and high retention clients. She has conducted more than 120 jury trials, and represented clients in hundreds of bench trials, administrative hearings, and appeals. Ms. Hewitt has created an extensive library of articles and advisories for legal and risk management publications; her Florida Bar CLE manuals and presentations include “Trying a Difficult Liability Case in Florida.” She has been an accredited CEU presenter for the Florida Department of Finance since 2002 and has presented legal topics at the ABA Annual Conference and numerous NRRDA National Conferences. She has been a guest instructor for three successive semesters at Barry Law in the Trial Advocacy Program, and most recently taught a class regarding Risk Containment at Stetson College of Law in the Law Office Management Program. Peggy was raised in Florida and earned both her BA and JD from the University of Florida.

Margaret “Peggy”
Hewitt

We look forward to an insightful and engaging program with another great turnout.

Foreclosure Committee

Overture Realty, LLC v. City of Madeira Beach - order to show cause

in the City's amended complaint to foreclose unpaid liens, they sought an order to show cause pursuant to Fla. Stat. § 702.10(1). The trial court entered an order to show cause and set a hearing. Overture moved to dismiss and filed a verified answer challenging the liens and their amounts pursuant to Fla. Stat. § 702.10(1)(b). The trial court entered summary judgment in favor of the City and Overture appealed. The 2nd DCA reversed and remanded the case finding that Overture's challenge to the liens created a genuine issue of material fact that should have precluded the trial court from granting summary judgment. The Court agreed with Overture that Fla. Stat. § 702.10 provides an expedited process to foreclose when the case is uncontested.

Sutton v. Wilmington Trust - motion to vacate sale

In this case, the borrowers consented to final judgment with an extended sale date. Before the sale, Sutton and Wilmington separately moved to postpone the sale to allow Sutton to refinance. Hearings were not set on the motions and the trial court never entered orders on either motion. The property went to a foreclosure sale where a third-party was the successful bidder. Sutton moved to vacate the sale alleging miscommunication issues because she thought Wilmington obtained an order postponing the sale. The trial court denied the motion finding Sutton failed to establish fraud or irregularity in the sale. The 3rd DCA reversed and remanded for reconsideration of Sutton's allegations and proof of equitable grounds to vacate the sale. The Court provided the standard is not only a showing of irregularity at the sale and further expanded on case law supporting a proper showing of equitable grounds could support relief from a sale.

Schmidt and Schmidt Farms v. JJTB, Inc. - subject matter jurisdiction

In 2011, JJTB filed a foreclosure against Schmidt in Hillsborough County and the trial court entered an order denying a foreclosure judgment in 2015 for failure to prove a default. JJTB appealed the order which resulted in a PCA from the 2nd DCA. In 2016, JJTB filed a new foreclosure against

Schmidt in Polk County and the trial court entered summary judgment against JJTB finding the claims were time barred by the SOL. Citing the Polk County holding that a new cause of action was barred, JJTB obtained leave to amend its complaint in the Hillsborough County case to allege a cause of action on the note and a cause of action for new and separate defaults. Schmidt moved to dismiss the amended complaint and the trial court dismissed only the claim on the note. The trial court subsequently entered a final judgment against Schmidt and awarded JJTB attorneys' fees and costs. Schmidt appealed alleging the trial court lacked subject matter jurisdiction and JJTB argued Schmidt waived any objection by not raising this issue until moving for rehearing. The 2nd DCA found the 2015 final order denying a foreclosure judgment did not reserve jurisdiction, the mandate from the previous PCA appeal did not authorize any amendments, and the trial court never amended or vacated its 2015 order. The Court agreed with Schmidt reversing both the final judgment and order awarding fees based on the trial court lacking jurisdiction and certified conflict with the 4th DCA on whether parties can waive subject matter jurisdiction.

Dorothy Dlugolecki
Chair

MARITIME LIENS

A “maritime lien” is a lien on a vessel to secure a claim for services to the vessel or for injury by a vessel to a person or property. It arises by operation of maritime law as security for a claim, without requirement for possession, and gives the claimant a special property right in the vessel. It comes into existence when the debt or claim arises and gives the claimant the right to have the vessel sold and the debt paid out of the proceeds of sale.

Section 328.17, Florida Statutes, provides for the nonjudicial sale of undocumented (state licensed) vessels. Under that statute, a vessel may be subject to nonjudicial sale for the nonpayment of licensed commercial marina storage fees, repairs, improvements, or other authorized work on the vessel, including towing and storage charges, after notice to the owner and any title lienors. The sale may not extinguish title liens.

1. 46 U.S.C. Sec. 31326, provides for sale of a U.S.C.G. documented vessel by order of a U.S. District Court by a civil action in rem against the vessel to enforce a preferred mortgage lien or a maritime lien. The procedure is quite cumbersome. It requires a lienor to:
  1. File a Verified Complaint in compliance with Fed.R.Civ.P. 9(h), Supp. R. C(2)(a), and the local admiralty rules of the district court where the vessel is located.
  2. File a Motion for Issuance of a Warrant of Arrest, Supp. R. C(3), accompanied by a proposed order directing Issuance of the Warrant directed to the U.S. Marshal to arrest the vessel and proposed Warrant of Arrest in rem.
  3. File a Motion and proposed Order for Appointment of a Substitute Custodian of the vessel to be arrested, accompanied by an Affidavit of Substitute Custodian to provide custodial care for the vessel arrested in substitution for custodial care by the U.S. Marshals Service.
  4. Receive the Order Appointing Substitute Custodian and the Warrant of Arrest issued by the U.S. District Court Clerk.
  5. Deliver the Warrant to the U.S. Marshals Service by noon of the day following issuance, accompanied by U.S. Marshals Form 285, 3 certified copies of the Warrant for Arrest, 3 certified copies of the Order Appointing Substitute Custodian, 2 copies of the Complaint, and a certified copy of the Substitute Custodian Consent and Indemnification Agreement, indemnifying the U.S. Marshals Service for any liability for loss or damage to the vessel or its property.
  6. The vessel is arrested by the U.S. Marshals Service and turned over to the substitute custodian for the duration of the lawsuit or until bonded out, in accordance with Supp.R. E(5)(a)(b) by the vessel’s insurer ...OR...Upon Agreement, file a Joint Motion & Stipulation for release of the vessel in accordance with Supp.R. E(5) C ... OR ... file a Motion for Release for the Court to set Bond.
  7. The Defendant(s) file their answer and the lawsuit proceeds to conclusion or settlement.
  8. An interlocutory sale of the vessel is permitted if the cost of keeping the vessel is excessive or disproportionate to the value of the vessel, or if there is an unreasonable delay in securing release of the vessel, per Supp.R. E(9)(a)(i)(A)-(9)(a)(i)( C )

Employment Law

David Miklas, Esq. – representing employers only

It is hard to hire right now. You may have to pay more for talent now than you used to. Let's say you hire a couple of men into "coordinator" positions that have been hard to fill, so you offered them more than you have in the past.

Let's say you already have some female employees in the same "coordinator" type position but they are paid less than the newly-hired male coworkers.

Assume the female coordinators are excellent workers with no performance issues, but the economy and hiring market basically forced the employer to shell out more for the newly hired men.

If the women complain, do you have to do anything? Fire the men? Reduce the men's pay? Increase the women's pay?

Well, what should be done is increasing the women's pay.

One month ago the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission ("EEOC") announced it filed a lawsuit against an employer for the above example, because the employer is paying women less than their newly hired male counterparts despite having more job-related experience in the field and more seniority in the coordinator position.

One thing that really seems to irritate the EEOC is that the employer "refused to adjust female [coordinators]' wages after receiving a complaint of pay discrimination."

This lawsuit is being brought as a violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Equal Pay Act of 1963, which prohibit pay discrimination based on sex. For those who are keeping track, this lawsuit is in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia (EEOC v. Alternate Solutions Health Network, LLC and Inova Home Health, LLC., Case No. 1:23-cv-00264).

Many of us have enjoyed a beverage at Tropical Smoothie Café. They are a big company and shouldn't screw stuff up, right?

Well, over in Tampa some folks operating several of these stores (franchise locations) decided to pass on some costs to the workers.

Specifically, they deducted money from the workers' paychecks for uniforms and cash register shortages.

Is that legal?

Well, it can be, if it is set up right.

Sadly, the owners of these franchises do not appear to have consulted an employment lawyer to set this up right.

See, it is legal to require employees to wear a uniform. However, if the wearing of a uniform is required by the employer, then the cost and maintenance (laundry/dry cleaning) of the uniform is considered to be a business expense of the employer.

Now, it can be legal to require the employee to bear the cost, but you have to be careful.

Why? Well, you cannot reduce the employee's wage below the minimum wage, and you cannot cut into overtime compensation.

This employer deducted too much money from the workers' paychecks for uniforms and cash register shortages, which caused their average hourly rates to fall below the minimum wage.

Oh, yeah, the Department of Labor ("DOL") investigators also discovered that the employer also paid some employees straight-time rates for overtime hours worked (rather than 1.5 times the regular rate of pay).

This is not a massive cost to the employer. It was $6,520 in back wages and liquidated damages for 56 workers. The key is that it could have been completely avoided.

WHAT LAWYERS NEED TO KNOW ABOUT BANK FAILURES AND TRUST ACCOUNTS

Reprinted from the Florida Bar News
Mar 16, 2023 Ruth Smith Assistant Bar Ethics Counsel

(Editor's Note: Due to the recent failures of Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank, the Bar's Ethics Hotline has been fielding questions from attorneys regarding bank failures and trust accounts. To provide some guidance, we are republishing this 2008 column written by former Bar's Ethics Counsel Ruth Smith.)

Recent bank failures are causing lawyers to give greater consideration to the safety of their client trust funds and whether any steps need to be taken to avoid or lessen any threats to those funds.

Rule 5-1.1(a), Rules of Professional Conduct, mandates that a lawyer hold in trust all funds and property of clients that come into the lawyer's possession. Such funds are to be held in a bank or savings and loan association in an account that is a "clearly labeled and designated" trust account. IOTA accounts, which are to be established for nominal or short-term client funds (where the costs to earn income for the client would exceed the income), are to be established in a bank or savings and loan that is insured by the FDIC. Rule 5-1.1(g)(1)(D). In view of the duty to safeguard client property, non-IOTA accounts should be held in an FDIC-insured financial institution as well, unless the client directs otherwise.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) is an independent agency of the United States government that protects against the loss of insured deposits if an FDIC-insured bank or savings association fails. FDIC deposit insurance is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States government. On October 14, 2008, the maximum coverage limit for FDIC deposit insurance temporarily increased from $100,000 to $250,000 per depositor (client or third-party owner of the trust funds) through December 31, 2009.

According to the FDIC, trust accounts are "fiduciary accounts" or "deposit accounts owned by one party but held in a fiduciary capacity by another party." All fiduciary accounts are required by 12 C.F.R §330.5(b), to meet certain disclosure requirements. These are first that the fiduciary nature of the account must be disclosed in the bank's deposit account records ( e.g. , "ABC Law Firm Trust Account"). Pursuant to Rule 5-1.1(a), the trust account is required to be a "clearly labeled and designated" trust account. Thus, the first requirement should be met upon compliance with the rule, as the designation discloses the existence of a fiduciary relationship.

And, second, the name and ownership interest of each owner must be ascertainable from the deposit account records of the insured bank or from records maintained by the lawyer (or someone hired by the lawyer to perform the recordkeeping task). Rule 5-1.2 requires certain minimum trust accounting records, which include ledgers that set forth receipts, disbursements, transfers, and balances for each client. Compliance with the rule should satisfy the second disclosure requirement.

According to the FDIC, provided that the disclosure requirements are fully satisfied, then funds deposited by a fiduciary on behalf of one or more persons or entities (the owners) are insured as the deposits of the owners. That is, for a trust account, the FDIC will provide insurance coverage of up to $250,000 for each client. The trust funds will be aggregated and insured to the statutory limit with any other funds which the client may hold individually at the same insured depository institution.

A discussion of fiduciary accounts is available on the FDIC Web site at: www.fdic.gov/deposit/deposits/insured/faq3.html.

Florida Ethics Opinion 72-37 states that there is no ethical requirement that a lawyer divide trust funds in order to ensure complete FDIC coverage. However, the opinion states that a lawyer is expected to act prudently with respect to the trust account and consider the deposits' size in relation to the size and reputation of the financial institutions concerned. Obtaining information on a financial institution's solvency would be useful in such an evaluation.

Lawyers can call their bank officer and ask for a copy of their rating with one of the two chief bank rating services used by financial institutions. Unfortunately, the FDIC does not release its ratings on the safety and soundness of banks to the public. But, the FDIC's Web site contains a list of several private companies that provide ratings of financial institutions. The ratings generally are a numerical or letter grade that reflects the safety or soundness of the institution. The list can be obtained at:.

When there is concern about the stability of a bank in which a trust account is maintained, and when the account contains more than $250,000 for one client, or the amount of client-held funds in the bank when combined with the trust funds held for that client exceed $250,000, it may be prudent to consider consulting with the client to determine if these funds should be divided over two or more institutions to receive the benefit of full FDIC coverage.

Additionally, it is probably good practice, regardless of the current stability of a particular institution, to advise clients of the bank in which the clients' funds will be placed in trust. This will enable the clients to determine if the clients may hold other funds at that same institution which, when combined with the funds held in the trust account on their behalf, will exceed FDIC coverage limitations.

As noted previously, in order for each client to receive the advantage of full FDIC coverage, trust account recordkeeping must be properly maintained as required pursuant to Rule 5-1.2. The identity of each client and amount of funds held on behalf of each client must be ascertainable from the lawyer's records. In the event of a bank failure, those records will be utilized by the FDIC to pay insurance to the lawyer, who will then be responsible for remitting the insurance payments to the clients. Thus, lawyers must be vigilant in ensuring good trust account records are maintained.

There are no disciplinary cases in which a lawyer has been held liable to a client for failure to protect client funds against uninsured losses in the event of a bank failure. There is one malpractice case that considered this issue. Bazinet v. Kluge, 14 A.D.3d 324, 788 N.Y.S.2d 77 (2003), involved a situation in which an attorney made two deposits of over $1 million each into an IOTA account at a bank that failed after the deposits. The appellate court held: "There is no requirement imposed by law that an attorney-escrow agent place escrow funds in an account fully insured by the FDIC, and there are no allegations that [the attorney] knew that [the bank] was in danger of closing. The proximate cause of [the depositor's] injury, if any, was [the bank's] unforeseen demise." Id. at 325, 788 N.Y.S.2d at 78.

It is unclear if Florida courts would take the same position. However, lawyers do have an ethical obligation to act prudently with client funds. Lawyers should be certain to keep compliant trust accounting records and consider the financial health of any financial institution in which client funds are maintained. If there are any concerns about the institution, the lawyer should consult with any client who is not receiving the advantage of full FDIC coverage and determine what actions can be taken to prevent any potential loss of these funds.

How To Survive A Panic Attack When It Strikes

By: Stan Popovich

A person can experience a panic attack when they least expect it. This can cause a great deal of fear and anxiety for the person.

Many people do not know what they should do when dealing with a panic attack.

As a result, here are eight easy steps a person can follow when a panic attack strikes unexpectedly.

1. Take a break: A panic attack can be very uncomfortable and can affect a person's thinking. The best thing to do when this happens is to take a break in order to calm down. You don't want to do anything when you are not thinking clearly.
2. Take deep breaths: A person should take some deep breaths to help feel better and to get rid of some of the excessive fear and anxiety. There are many kinds of breathing exercises a person can learn to follow with the help of a mental health counselor. Taking some deep breaths can help a person relax right away.
3. Distract yourself: A person should try to distract themselves from the panic they are experiencing. A person could get some fresh air, listen to some music, take a brisk walk, read the newspaper, or do something relaxing that will give them a fresh perspective on things.
4. Visualize a red stop sign: A person should visualize a red stop sign in their mind when they encounter a fearful thought. When the negative thought comes, a person should think of a red stop sign that serves as a reminder to stop focusing on that thought and to think of something else. A person can then try to think of something positive to replace the negative thought.

5. Get the facts of your situation: Many people feel helpless when they experience a panic attack for the first time. The fact is that you will be ok and that it takes a few minutes for the anxiety to go away. Talk to a counselor and get the facts of what a panic attack is and what you can do when a panic attack occurs.

6. Don't dwell on your thoughts: A person must not dwell or focus on their thoughts during a panic attack. The more a person tries to reason out their thoughts the longer a panic attack will last. Read some positive statements from your favorite self-help book to help overcome your negative thoughts during a panic attack.

7. Read some positive affirmations: Another technique that is very helpful is to have a small notebook of positive statements that makes you feel good. Whenever you come across an affirmation that makes you feel good, write it down in a small notebook that you can carry around with you in your pocket. Whenever you feel depressed, open up your small notebook and read those statements.

8. Get help: It is important to talk to a qualified professional in order to learn how to survive a panic attack. By talking to a professional, a person will be helping themselves in the long run because they will become better able to deal with any panic attacks that may occur in the future.

Legal Resources / CLE

CLE MATERIALS: We are sending to you our Urgent Request for current CLE Materials. Our Martin County Clerk's Office—Recording Division, provides invaluable services in curating our CLE materials. However, this requires current (not expired) CDs of Florida Bar programs. Everything is out-of-date except for one Florida Bar CLE Program (Survey of Law) and our monthly meetings on DVD. Plus our Legal Resource Committee lacks the funds to provide additional materials beyond two Florida Bar CLE programs per year. Our Committee is actively requesting our membership (YOU) to contribute to our lending CLE law library any Florida Bar CLE programs which you have that are not expired.

Did you know: Our Florida Bar offers online CLE programs for little or no cost! This is a great advantage if you are looking for 1 credit CLE materials on a variety of topics. Login to the Florida Bar and take a look.

Interesting: A quick read of your monthly Florida Bar News will result in many interesting topics. Did you know that one of the largest areas of disciplinary actions is the result of improper law office management/trust accounting? Yet, many law schools hardly ever offer law office management in their curriculum. Our committee has been asked to offer a CLE program on law office management. It is in the works and an agenda should be forthcoming soon with a program prior to June, 2023. When the agenda appears, please consult your schedules as we have been promised that the program will fillup soon.

FREE LEGAL RESEARCH: All members are reminded that our Martin County Public Library has free legal research available which is accessible at all branches of the library system. If you forget to bring your USB for copying the research results, then one might be obtained for a nominal charge from the librarian, or you can always email your research results to yourself or print the results for a minor charge per page (although copying to USB is usually better).

ADMINISTRATIVE RESOURCES: Discounts are available for many administrative resource materials. Please inquire if you are interested in any such services.

Call (772) 485-6767 if you are interested in joining our Legal Resource Committee. See you at our upcoming Bar Luncheon, Christine Moreno
